CASE 2:23-CV-01298-JLS-BFM

PLAINTIFF'S SUPPLEMENTAL FILING IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION AND REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Plaintiff respectfully submits this Supplemental Filing in Support and Request for Judicial Notice related to his Motion for Reconsideration filed on March 28, 2025. This supplemental filing is intended to bring newly discovered evidence to the Court's attention that further supports Plaintiff's arguments regarding the State Bar's failure to properly oversee and regulate admissions processes, as well as the Court's failure to address critical issues raised in Plaintiff's Fourth Amended Complaint.

Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 335 (1976) emphasizes that ‘due process requires an opportunity to present every available defense.’ The State Bar’s strategy seeks to deprive Plaintiff of this fundamental right.

This case is not solely about Plaintiff—it concerns the integrity of the legal profession and the protection of prospective law students. Courts have a vested interest in ensuring regulatory agencies fulfill their statutory obligations. See Texas Dep’t of Housing v. Inclusive Communities Project, 576 U.S. 519 (2015) (recognizing disparate impact in regulatory enforcement failures). The State Bar’s refusal to enforce accreditation standards has systemic consequences that extend beyond this litigation.

CASE 2:23-CV-01298-JLS-BFM

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. EVIDENCE OF SYSTEMIC FAILURES AND PROCEDURAL MISCONDUCT

The Plaintiff has uncovered new evidence that directly relates to the claims asserted in his Motion for Reconsideration. This evidence further substantiates Plaintiff's contention that the State Bar of California was aware of significant institutional deficiencies affecting its oversight of admissions processes, including accreditation, moral character determinations, and examination administration.

The newly discovered document, the State Bar's own correspondence, dated April 2, 2025, titled "Update on State Bar Roles," was published earlier this week by Leah T. Wilson, Executive Director of the California State Bar. This document provides important insight into the structural issues facing the State Bar and the Committee of Bar Examiners (CBE). Additionally, it demonstrates the State Bar's ongoing internal restructuring, including the appointment of Donna Hershkowitz as Chief of Admissions, in support of the timely grant of discovery related to Plaintiff's claims.

A. NEWLY DISCOVERED EVIDENCE

The “Update on State Bar Roles” acknowledges the following:

1. The Committee of Bar Examiners (CBE) has historically faced challenges in maintaining transparency, accountability, and effective oversight of admissions processes.
 2. Structural deficiencies identified in the 2017 Governance in the Public Interest Task Force Report have prompted ongoing reforms, including the restructuring of the State Bar's Admissions function.

PLAINTIFF'S SUPPLEMENTAL FILING IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION AND REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE

CASE 2:23-CV-01298-JLS-BEM

3. The restructuring effort is indicative of the State Bar's awareness of procedural and administrative deficiencies relevant to Plaintiff's claims.

B. BASIS FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE:

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 201, judicial notice is appropriate when the fact is not subject to reasonable dispute because it:

1. Is generally known within the trial court's territorial jurisdiction; or
 2. Can be accurately and readily determined from sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned.

The document in question, titled "Update on State Bar Roles" (published on April 2, 2025, by Leah T. Wilson, Executive Director of the California State Bar), is a public record and an official communication from a state agency. The document is accessible through official State Bar channels and is relevant as it directly relates to the structural and administrative changes within the State Bar that impact Plaintiff's claims of procedural deficiencies and regulatory failures.

C. LEGAL SIGNIFICANCE

This newly discovered evidence supports Plaintiff's argument that the State Bar's institutional failures are systemic and ongoing. The Court's dismissal of the State Bar defendants was predicated on a failure to consider the full scope of these institutional deficiencies and the State Bar's attempts to restructure in response to its own failures.

REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE

CASE 2:23-CV-01298-JLS-BFM

1 Moreover, the evidence of internal restructuring corroborates Plaintiff's allegations that the State
2 Bar was aware of its own failures and took action to mitigate exposure rather than to address the
3 underlying issues adequately. Plaintiff submits that this evidence should have been considered by the
4 Court before ruling on the dismissal of the State Bar defendants.

5 Plaintiff submits that this record is not speculative; it is identified, documented, and submitted
6 here as Exhibit A, a true and accurate copy attached.

7 Notably, the documents demonstrate that the State Bar knowingly mischaracterized its
8 regulatory role as ‘judicial’ rather than ‘administrative’ to the Court in this context. The Court
9 took judicial notice of State Bar arguments regarding Eleventh Amendment immunity in this context
10 less than one week ago (see Docket 248). This distinction is legally dispositive and of critical 11 importance.

12 In Verizon Maryland, Inc. v. Public Service Commission of Maryland, 535 U.S. 635, 645
13 (2002), the Supreme Court held that state regulatory entities performing enforcement functions are 14 not shielded by sovereign immunity when their conduct violates federal law. Here, the State Bar's 15 failure to enforce accreditation compliance standards, facially compounded by its suppression of 16 public records that may expose regulatory failures, constitutes an ongoing violation of federal law.

17 This ongoing violation aligns directly with the framework established in Ex parte Young, 209
18 U.S. 123 (1908), which allows for injunctive relief against state actors engaged in continuing 19 violations of federal law. Todd's claims — rooted in the State Bar's refusal to enforce regulatory 20 standards and its suppression of public records that could reveal these failures — fit squarely within

1 this framework. Dismissing Todd's claims with prejudice, particularly where procedural evasion and
2 apparent misrepresentations by opposing counsel have obstructed his ability to obtain relevant
3 evidence, would be inconsistent with the principles of due process and federal oversight of state
4 regulatory bodies.

6 A. THE RECORD SUPPORTS A FINDING OF GOOD CAUSE

7 The records identified here demonstrates that both relevant evidence and applicable caselaw
8 exists. Courts have consistently recognized that when a party has identified a substantial body of 9 relevant material yet refuses to conduct reasonable review, good cause for discovery is established.

10 Plaintiff requests that the Court reject improper factual determinations and reconsider its previous 11 dismissal posture.

13 B. THE STATE BAR'S ACTIONS UNDERMINE PUBLIC ACCOUNTABILITY AND TRANSPARENCY

14 As a government institution responsible for overseeing attorney licensure and legal education
15 policy, the State Bar is obligated to maintain transparency. Its own publications in official 16 proceedings supports this assertion.

18 C. DUE PROCESS & INSTITUTIONAL PREFERENCE

19 The Court has an independent duty to ensure that its rulings adhere to fundamental fairness and 20 procedural due process. See Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 335 (1976) ('[D]ue process requires 21 an opportunity to present every available defense.'). In the extant case, it risks affirming a system

28 CASE 2:23-CV-01298-JLS-BFM

1 where litigants are prejudiced by virtue of institutional affiliation, rather than legal merit. Such a
2 precedent cannot stand.

4 D. PUBLIC INTEREST IMPLICATIONS

5 The State Bar's ongoing failure to regulate unaccredited law schools has consequences far beyond
6 this litigation. Courts have a vested interest in ensuring that regulatory agencies uphold their
7 obligations. See Texas Dep't of Housing v. Inclusive Communities Project, Inc., 576 U.S. 519 (2015)
8 (holding that regulatory enforcement failures disproportionately impact underprivileged groups). This 9 case is not merely about procedural compliance—it is about the systemic accountability of a
10 regulatory body entrusted with protecting the public interest.
11

12 II. LEGAL SIGNIFICANCE

13 The newly discovered evidence underscores a pattern of institutional failure by the State Bar to 14 adhere to fundamental principles of procedural fairness and accountability.
15

16 Moreover, the evidence of internal restructuring corroborates Plaintiff's allegations that the State
17 Bar was aware of its own failures and took action to mitigate exposure rather than to address the
18 underlying issues adequately. Plaintiff submits that this evidence should have been considered by the 19 Court before ruling on the dismissal of the State Bar defendants.
20

21 The newly discovered evidence underscores a pattern of institutional failure by the State Bar to 22 adhere to fundamental principles of procedural fairness and accountability. As established in 23 Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 335 (1976), "due process requires an opportunity to present
24 every available defense." By suppressing relevant evidence and failing to enforce accreditation

26 PLAINTIFF'S SUPPLEMENTAL FILING IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION AND
27 REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE

CASE 2:23-CV-01298-JLS-BFM

1 standards, the State Bar has deprived Plaintiff of his fundamental right to meaningful review.

3 Moreover, the Supreme Court's decision in Verizon Maryland, Inc. v. Public Service Commission of 4 Maryland, 535 U.S. 635, 645 (2002), reaffirmed that sovereign immunity does not shield state
5 regulatory entities when they are performing enforcement functions that violate federal law. Here, the 6 State Bar's failure to enforce accreditation compliance standards and its suppression of public records
7 that may expose these violations constitutes an ongoing violation of federal law. This ongoing
8 violation aligns directly with the framework established in Ex parte Young, 209 U.S. 123 (1908),
9 which allows for injunctive relief against state actors engaged in continuous violations of federal law.
10

11 Furthermore, the principles set forth in Tennessee v. Lane, 541 U.S. 509 (2004), establish that 12 state actors cannot evade judicial scrutiny when their actions infringe upon constitutional rights,
13 particularly when procedural fairness and access to the courts are compromised. (This case reaffirms
14 that procedural fairness must be safeguarded where constitutional rights and access to justice are at 15 stake.) This is further supported by Heckler v. Chaney, 470 U.S. 821 (1985), which clarifies that 16 agency discretion is not absolute, particularly when statutory or regulatory mandates are at stake. The 17 Supreme Court's holding in Armstrong v. Exceptional Child Center, Inc., 575 U.S. 320 (2015), 18 confirms that Ex Parte Young remains a valid mechanism for challenging ongoing violations of 19 federal law by state officials. The State Bar's actions, which include suppression of evidence and 20 deliberate mischaracterization of its regulatory role, present precisely the type of institutional
21 misconduct that federal courts are empowered to enjoin under Ex Parte Young. Additionally, as 22 recognized in California Teachers Ass'n v. State Bd. of Education, 271 F.3d 1141 (9th Cir. 2001), 23 procedural due process violations within administrative frameworks warrant judicial intervention to

1 preserve fairness and accountability. Given the State Bar's failure to address these deficiencies, the
2 Court's previous dismissal of the State Bar defendants without addressing this evidence constitutes a
3 clear error warranting reconsideration.

6 III. RELIEF REQUESTED

8 For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court reconsider its dismissal of 9 the State Bar defendants in light of this newly discovered evidence, or, alternatively, permit discovery
10 related to the evidence identified herein to ensure a complete and fair adjudication of Plaintiff's
11 claims. Plaintiff further requests that the Court address the implications of this evidence in 12 conjunction with Plaintiff's previously filed Motion for Reconsideration.

15 The Supreme Court's ruling in Students for Fair Admissions v. Harvard, 600 U.S. 181 (2023)
16 (SFFA) underscores that courts must scrutinize institutional practices that perpetuate racial inequality,
17 particularly in educational contexts. In SFFA, the Court recognized that educational institutions —
18 even those operating under constitutional authority — may not insulate themselves from judicial 19 scrutiny when their policies or practices result in systemic disadvantages that disproportionately harm
20 minority students.

23 Similarly, the structural inequities embedded in the State Bar's oversight of unaccredited law
24 schools demand closer examination. The State Bar's failure to enforce accreditation compliance
25 standards — coupled with its refusal to produce public records that may reveal discriminatory
26 impacts — presents precisely the type of institutional evasion that SFFA warns courts against

27

28 PLAINTIFF'S SUPPLEMENTAL FILING IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION AND REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE

CASE 2:23-CV-01298-JLS-BFM

1 ignoring. The discovery Plaintiff seeks is essential to evaluating whether the State Bar's regulatory 2 decisions perpetuate structural inequality in violation of federal law.

4 Moreover, as the Court in Johnson recognized, addressing entrenched inequalities requires
5 proactive measures to expose institutional practices that disadvantage historically marginalized
6 groups. The State Bar's regulatory conduct — including its suppression of records related to 7 accreditation enforcement — reflects a system that disproportionately burdens minority students
8 attending unaccredited law schools. The discovery Plaintiff seeks is narrowly tailored to reveal
9 evidence of this systemic imbalance.

12 Plaintiff appreciates the Court's attention to these matters and respectfully requests fair and 13 timely adjudication of these procedural issues.

2.1 Overview of Roles of the Board of Trustees and the Committee of Bar Examiners in Oversight and Administration of Admissions Functions

The State Bar of California

OPEN SESSION AGENDA ITEM 2.1 APRIL 2025 BOARD OF TRUSTEES

DATE: April 2, 2025

TO: Members, Board of Trustees

FROM: Leah T. Wilson, Executive Director

SUBJECT: Overview of Roles of the Board of Trustees and the Committee of Bar Examiners in Oversight and Administration of Admissions Functions

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This item provides an overview of the subentity review process conducted in response to the 2017 Governance in the Public Interest Task Force Report (GIPTF), with a specific focus on those aspects of the review related to the Committee of Bar Examiners (CBE). The review identified key areas for improvement for that body, including role definition, authority, transparency, and decision-making. Pursuant to work stemming from the 2017 GIPTF review, the CBE gained new explicit responsibilities for bar exam development and administration policy, greater standardization and transparency were introduced to the moral character determination and law school accreditation processes, first-level review of a host of appeals was transitioned from the CBE to staff, and the CBE's role in review of the Admissions Fund budget was clarified.

RECOMMENDED ACTION

Informational only.

DISCUSSION

In its 2017 report, the State Bar's Governance in the Public Interest Task Force "assess[ed] whether the structure of the subentities aligns with assigned tasks and appropriate oversight mechanisms are in place." That assessment, contained in Appendix I of the report, posed a number of additional questions related to each subentity.

At its November 2017 meeting, the Board of Trustees directed staff and a number of Board committees "to complete the subentity review pursuant to Appendix I" by August 31, 2018.

The Board subsequently discussed a conceptual framework for the review centered around the following elements:

1. Role definition
2. Accountability and transparency
3. Clear lines of authority
4. Impartial, fair, and consistent decision-making
5. Engagement
6. Size

Beginning in 2017 and continuing throughout 2018, the State Bar engaged in a collaborative and inclusive process to review the subentities of the State Bar and evaluate them in the context of the 2017 Governance in the Public Interest Task Force Report and the framework described above.

A starting point for the review was the fact that the State Bar relied on more volunteers and more subentities than any other California regulatory body, despite the fact that the State Bar did not have more licensees than some comparable agencies.

The final report, “Opportunities for Improving Governance and Services Delivery”, submitted to the Board in September 2018, utilized this framework to examine the various subentities of the State Bar. The Board adopted a set of recommendations pursuant to that report.

SUBENTITY REVIEW AND THE COMMITTEE OF BAR EXAMINERS

With respect to the Committee of Bar Examiners, the subentity review relied heavily on an extensive process led by former State Bar Executive Director Elizabeth Parker and organizational consultant Elise Walton. That process included iterative interviews and engagement with current and former members of the CBE and admissions-related stakeholders, as well as research into the functioning of parallel bodies in other states.

Reforms were identified in a number of areas including:

Role Definition and Lines of Authority: It was noted that there was confusion over CBE's role related to scope, authority, and independence. Importantly, one area highlighted was budget oversight; the 2018 report clarified that although historically updates regarding the Admissions Fund budget were reported to the CBE, that body had never had the authority to make budgetary decisions.

In September 2017, the CBE inquired with the Office of General Counsel (OGC) of the State Bar as to its authority. The questions posed (What can CBE decide on its own? What is reported to the Board of Trustees? What must be approved by the Board? What requires Legislative approval or must be reported to the Legislature? What requires Supreme Court approval?) reflect the confusion at that time as to the authority of the CBE. OGC's response to the CBE indicated, in essence, that the CBE derives its authority from the State Bar subject to the authority of the Supreme Court.¹ The CBE is authorized “to administer requirements for admission to practice law, examine all applicants for admissions, and certify to the Court for admission those applicants who fulfill the requirements.”² The CBE administers these functions “only to the extent that the Board so authorizes, subject to the ultimate authority of the Court.”³

Accountability & Transparency: The 2018 report highlighted the need for enhanced analysis of bar examination data, as opposed to publication alone, as well as the need for greater transparency and consistency in the administration of the moral character determination process.

Impartial, Consistent, and Fair Decision-Making: In addition to flagging needed improvements in the moral character determination process, the 2018 report identified a number of potential reforms related to the law school accreditation process, specifically recommending that professionalization of that work be considered.

Engagement: While CBE members were noted as being consistently engaged, lower levels of participation and involvement by California law schools in policy making were noted.

Size: The report highlighted the large size of the CBE in contrast to its comparator bodies in other states.

In addition to these observations aligning with the subentity review elements established by the Board in its November 2017 staff directive, additional recommendations were generated informed by the Parker/Walton report and discussions with the CBE. These recommendations reflected a shift in administrative work from CBE to staff (transitioning from CBE to staff responsibility for first-level consideration of exam violation and other types of appeals for example), clarification that the Board, not the CBE, is responsible for the Admissions Fund budget, and adding new policy and oversight functions to the CBE related to exam development and administration.

Table 1 below summarizes all of the CBE-related recommendations brought forward to and adopted by the Board of Trustees in 2018.

- The second column proposes who should be responsible for the function and/or related tasks going forward;
- The third column indicates whether the proposal represents new work or a change from the current work and/or division of labor between the CBE and State Bar staff;
- The fourth column indicates how law schools will be engaged in the work, whether appropriate; and
- The fifth column describes the role of the Board of Trustees.

¹ This legal opinion is provided as Appendix B of the 2018 board item linked under the Previous Action section of this report.
